Only talk to your teacher about things that can be changed. It might help to have a conversation about comments on your homework that you don't understand, but it will not be productive to tell your teacher that you think she's mean and unfair. Instead of just blaming the teacher for the problem. show that you're willing to work together to fix it.

While some teachers are completely against standardized testing, others tell you that they don't have a problem with the standardized tests themselves but with how the results are interpreted and used. Most teachers say that you can't get a true indicator of what any particular student is capable of on a single test on any particular day.
