Film History; An Introduction is not, however, exactly a distillation of an "essential" film history. Researchers are fond of saying that there is no film history, only film histories. For some, this means that there can be no intelligible, coherent "grand narrative" that puts all the facts into place.

Film Production in Europe: Within the period of 1905-1912, the French film industry was still the largest. Due to the increase of demand from exhibitors because of the working class's shorter workweek, France's two main film firms, Pathé Frères and Gaumont, as well as other companies, continued to expand. Pathé Frères was one of the first companies to...
