Let others laugh flower-burial to see: Another year who will be burying me? As petals drop and spring begins to fail, The bloom of youth, too, sickens and turns pale. One day, when spring has gone and youth has fled. The Maiden and the flowers will both be dead." — Cao Xueqin, The Crab-Flower Club

The Crab-Flower Club Quotes by Xueqin Cao

In its subject material The Story of the Stone is a far cry from its peers — The Water Margin, The Romance of the Three Kingdoms and Journey to the West — which are full of politics, martial encounters, and adventure. It follows the lives of a "a number of females, conspicuous, if at all, only for their passion or folly or for some trifling talent or insignificant virtue", mostly in their mid-to-late teens.
